

at the last supper

© 1970 John Sturgeon

at the last supper
the teeth of the mind
will be extracted
finally, I will spit out the last contortions of intellect then, give what I am
to the wind
or some other mode of more inclusive transportation
so that I might be at home in my home